INFORMATIONAL HISTORICAL & EVENT WEBSITE

A Project Documentation Submitted to the College of Information Technology

Cagayan de Oro College

PHINMA Education

In Partial Fulfillment of the Requirements for Human Computer Interaction I

Submitted by:

Jangao, Raminder Nanak

Padere, Rai moses

Macabenlar, Zhenmar, N

Cabardo, Guilmar, M

Jamero, Vash Ausrael, O

Sumaoang, Aljen, T

Basa, Denver, Y

Go, Zhack

April 4, 2025

Introduction

The Abraham Lincoln Historical Information System provides a comprehensive biographical and historical record of America's 16th president through a methodically organized knowledge framework. This digital repository documents Lincoln's remarkable journey from humble beginnings in Kentucky to his pivotal leadership during America's greatest constitutional crisis. The system presents Lincoln's life through interconnected thematic modules covering early development, political ascension, presidential administration, Civil War leadership, emancipation initiatives, and lasting legacy. Primary historical content is meticulously organized to facilitate both chronological understanding of Lincoln's life trajectory and topical exploration of specific historical events. Visual historical artifacts complement the textual narratives, offering documentary evidence from the period. This educational resource serves multiple stakeholder needs—from students seeking foundational knowledge to educators requiring structured historical content and researchers accessing authenticated historical references. The system's organizational architecture ensures that complex historical narratives are accessible through intuitive navigation between interrelated topics, presenting Lincoln's multifaceted legacy as both a cohesive biographical narrative and a collection of significant historical moments that transformed American society.